Recommendation 1	Approved by 8 : ALyC , EOO , EURIG , ExamplesEditor , NARDAC , ORDAC , TTLO , WCEO	Note 1: Responses received from 8 voting members of the RSC Note 2: Correction of typo by NARDAC Note 3: Correction of typo by TTLO
------------------	--	---

Note 1: Responses received from 8 voting members of the RSC.

Note 2: NARDAC notes a typo in the original proposal as follows:

“On page 8, the RDA Registry citation for has corporate body incorrectly reads rdam:P303408. It should be rdam:P30408.”

Note 3: The TTLO highlights a typo in the original proposal as follows:

“The definition of the element Engraver agent of and its subtypes are currently slightly different in the Toolkit than the proposal. This does not affect the overall proposal, but I wanted to mention it in the interest of record keeping:

Engraver agent of (Toolkit definition)

A manifestation that involves a responsibility of an agent for cutting letters, figures, etc., on a surface such as a wooden or metal plate used for printing.

Engraver agent of (Proposal definition)

A manifestation that involves a responsibility of an agent for cutting letters, figures, or other marks on a surface such as a wooden or metal plate used for printing.

The marked up copy should then read as this:

A manifestation that involves a responsibility of an agent for incising ~~cutting~~ letters, figures, ~~etc.~~, or other marks on a ~~surface such as a wooden or metal plate~~ or other surface used for printing.

This does not affect the clean copy of the proposed change. The change makes the element definitions align with the definition of the inverse elements. It also brings the definitions in line with the RDA Editing Guide, which discourages the use of abbreviations such as ‘etc.’”
